FOOTPRINTS OF A LITTLE GURU. On a Number of Subjects, containing Illustrations, Tales, Stories, Pictures and Curious Experiments with Fossil Remains. By JAMES LEON. Price, 12 cents. Published by the Author, 100 Washington-st., Boston.

THUS was a Portuguese author, about two hundred and fifty years ago, who undertook to write the history of the Lusitanian monarchy; but commanding his narrative at the creation of the world he was overtaken by death just as he reached the foundation of the kingdom. Mr. Ross has not been quite so unfortunate as this poor old Bartolomeo de Brito, for he really has told us a pretty good deal about the subject mentioned on his title-page; but he made his plan so amazingly comprehensive that to finish his work with any respect for symmetry would have required the labor of two or three lives. He seems to have thought nothing foreign to his subject. He gives us remarks on the ancient Iroquois; reflections and verses on the death of Abraham Lincoln; a list of the principal officers of the United States Government since the adoption of the Constitution; something about hieroglyphics; something about pens, ink and lead-pencils; a history of Pennsylvania; chronicles of the Philadelphia stage (we do not mean the mail-coach, but the theater); poetry, pathetic, patriotic, and miscellaneous; a catalogue of the governors of Pennsylvania; an essay on the origin of "Yankee Doodle"; and many other things which we have not space to recount. Surprises await us at every turn of the page. We are deep in tables of postal statistics, when lo! the next page lures us away with a solution of the problem "How the Pyramids were built." We are reading about postage-stamps, when up jumps "Mad Anthony Wayne," who never had anything to do with the mails in his life; and from "Mad Anthony" to the prophecies of Merlin the transition is easy. When we reflect that our author had only 430 pages of large type at his disposal, we may well wonder that he succeeded in squeezing into his book almost all the subject of the problem. The next Annual Session begins Sept. 12. For the new ANNUAL REGISTER, containing full information, apply to Prof. CHARLES DROWNE, 100 Nassau-st., Troy, N.Y.

COTTAGE HILL SEMINARY.—Poughkeepsie, N.Y.—A. V. T. Parker, and M. A. Barber, Presidents—Wednesday, Sept. 12. The Prospects may be had at Appleton's, Broadway, or at the Rector, by Post.

HARPER & BROTHERS, New-York, Publish this Day:

I N S I D E : A CHRONICLE OF SECESSION. By GEORGE F. HARRINGTON. HIGHLY ILLUSTRATED BY THOMAS NAST. $1.00. Paper, $1.25. Cloth, $1.50.

The author of this novel is a native of the South, and has never resided in a free State. His die is cast with the Rebels during the entire period through which it is given to the work the most intense interest and an independent authority. The tale, though taking the form of a novel, comes out the original plan of fiction; as a historical picture of the South during our war, it is strikingly true in every important particular—especially true, indeed, in its application to Southern society during the war, that the Rebels have received letters, coming from residents of the States likely to rebellion, pleading to him by the most important characters of the story, with real personal earnestness, to the views correspondents. As a dramatic work of pure originality, and at the same time a faithful picture of the most exciting period of the war, it has no equal. It is a remarkable novel.

Under this Cahn, "and is one more valuable, being drawn from a larger experience. The illustrations, by Mr. Thomas Nast, rank as among the first productions of this great artist. Speaking of the work of Mr. Harrington, The New-York Evening Post remarks that "for tragic and lifelike interest, and for real merit of writing, it has not been equalled in all down years in any English novel."

II. ENGLISH TRAVELERS AND ITALIAN BRIGANDS: A NARRATIVE OF CAPTURE AND CAPTIVITY. By W. J. COOK, made up of W. J. COOK, served Edges, $1.75.

Mr. Cook had a hand in B among the Italian brigands. But his misfortunes now blind us to his friends a source of no little encouragement, and we can say for those who listen to his story that we have followed him. In his adventures 455 persons. He tells his tale in a clear and simple style, with that confident mien which is not afraid to be natural."—The London Times.

"Mr. Cook had an experience and an adventure of starting magnitude to these precise issues. He has seen what he has done, and written a bright and charming book as the result."—Jill the Year Book.

"We have no doubt that the book will be extensively read; we are sure that it will do an immense amount of good. It lets in a flood of light upon the deeds of these robbers. It will bring to bear upon the whole system the public opinion of Europe."—London Daily News.

III. HARPER'S HAND-BOOK FOR EUROPE. HARPER'S HAND-BOOK FOR TRAVELERS IN EUROPE AND THE EAST. Being a Guide through France, Belgium, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Sicily, Egypt, Syria, Turkey, Greece, Switzerland, Tyrol, Russia, Denmark, Sweden, Spain, and Great Britain and Ireland; with a Railroad Map, computed up to 1860. And a map embracing colored routes of travel in the above countries. By W. PARSONS & READING. Fifth large album, leather, pocket-book, $7.50.

The object of this is to give a distinct and clear outline, or a sketch, through the different cities and places of interest in Europe and the East; the names of the principal works of art by leading masters in all the galleries; the fees expected by the different schools; the names and charges of the principal hotels; the cost of traveling the different routes and the time employed; all the items in reference to the transportation of luggage and the immunities and charges which lead to the account of traveling expenses; so that the traveler may not only be able to travel without a courier, saving thereby 25 per cent of his expenses, but may avoid the purchase of some 25 volumes of guide-books, at an expense of nearly $300, in addition to the charges upon their weight. Those who have been in Europe and those who cannot go to Europe will find here in this work a fund of entertainment, the first to read up and remember what they have seen, and the second what they ought to have seen.

From having traveled somewhat extensively in Europe and the East, I can say with entire truth that you have succeeded in combining more that is instructive and valuable for the traveler than is contained in any one or series of hand-books; that I have ever met with.

Travel with an excellent guide-book; "Harper's Hand-Book for Travellers in Europe and the East." You had better get one in New-York before you leave; it is no much better than carrying a load of heavy Murray's; as you most of the travelers do, until you get sick of the sight of them.
